

Wireless provider competition is not the heart of the cell phone number portability debate. The issue is one of customer satisfaction. The rapid pace of technological change in the wireless industry coupled with the convergence of portable devices such as PDAs, wireless messaging (e.g. RIM Blackberry), etc necessitates number portability legislation.